Dear Sir/Ma'am

I've been a Yelp user for a long time now and have always been very impressed with your product. Yelp is like my dowsing stick for tracking down San Francisco's hidden culinary gems. And for this superpower, I am grateful.

I'm a developer working with a software-consultancy (ThoughtWorks) for 5-6 years now and I'm looking for other opportunities. Between my work and my personal projects, I have lots of Web Development experience. The prospect of working for your company excites me enough to motivate me to write a Cover Letter in LaTeX. I don't remember the last cover letter I ever wrote. But I digress.

I would like to apply for the position of Web Developer. But really, I like to think of myself as a software generalist with predominantly web development experience. But I digress. My resume is at udit.manektala.com. I would love to hear from you guys about this opportunity.

Sincerely yours,

Udit Manektala
